

My private time and private space that I "purchase" within our communication networks should not be violated without my permission.